TO: Washington International Studies Council students at Magdalen College as Visiting Students during the academic year 2023-24

I look forward very much to meeting you in October.

On the webpage from which you have downloaded this letter you will find some essential forms and information about coming to Magdalen, including the College reception programme. You should attend an introductory meeting with me at 5:30 p.m. in Cloisters 7/6 on Monday the 2nd of October. I am your College adviser and first point of contact during your time at Magdalen.

Please note the following:

- You will see from the induction timetable that you are invited, with all new graduate students, to dinner, at which gowns will be worn, on Monday, 2nd October. Please inform me by noon on 22nd September of any dietary requirements.
- You will note from the induction timetable that you will not matriculate (Saturday, 14th October), although you are welcome to join in the group photograph which will be taken beforehand (academic dress should be worn – see the Note on Academic Dress for details: the Oxford “Commoner’s” gown is the one you need).

Please read all the information carefully, and deal immediately with the form that needs to be returned to the College. Remember to attach a photograph of yourself (in addition to any photographs that you may have sent separately to WISC).

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me at the above address.
